THE LATEST LESSON

THE HERALD has time and again denounced the policy of reducing the Mounted Police force, and has devoted a good deal of its space at one time or another to pointing out to the Government the reckless folly of such a course. The view taken by THE HERALD has been adopted by every journal in the North West which has the courage to speak the views of its readers rather than those of the Government which it supports, and it was to be hoped that the Premier would have paid some attention to the plainly expressed views of a man whose press, it is a rare and noble thing to see, has been made by Mr. Laurier to Mayor Grady and Alderman Cowley of Montreal during their recent visit to Ottawa. The view received by a good deal of surprise and not a little disgust by the position of the North West. The Premier stated to these gentlemen that it had been decided by the Government to reduce the force to 50 men at the earliest possible opportunity, but he was in a position to say that the reduction would be felt elsewhere than at Macleod, that the strength of which would be maintained at 120 men. This would leave a force of 50 for the rest of the Territories, which THE HERALD believes would be absolutely no protection to the settlers in case of any uprising among the Indians. That such an uprising is quite within the bounds of possibility cannot be denied, and it would be difficult to estimate the consequences to the white settlers of the Territories which might arise in such an event. The case of Charcoal, who suffered the penalty of the law not very long ago, after loss of valuable lands, and the enormous advantage which the Indian possesses over any troops no matter how well trained and armed for western warfare, is a harsh work. The fugitive in that case had no friends even among his own tribe. The hand of every man, black and white, was against him, the Indians being as possible more anxious to capture him than the mounties of the North West. Yet, by his knowledge of the country and his Indian cunning, he was enabled to hold the Indians as well as the mounties, and was captured only after a fierce conflict and by the expenditure of a considerable sum of money. In the case of Almighty Voice, the story of whose death is reported in our despatches today, the circumstances are altogether different. Almighty Voice, whose career began with the murder of Sergeant Colebrook, has been at large for more than a year notwithstanding efforts made to effect his capture. That he has had the sympathy of the Indian population there is no denying, and in order to enable him to defy capture and to keep him provided with food and ammunition. The fact that the Half-breed settlers of Batchelor refused to assist the police in any way is in itself significant. By his death this man has given an account for the lives of no less than five human beings, and consequently is held up as a "big name" by his Indian friends, many of whom would be glad of an opportunity to emulate his record.

Without in any way attempting to create alarm, let it be considered for a moment what the effect would be if the Half-breed who are even now discontented, were to take to the war path. They are skilled shots, they have plenty of ammunition, and of course are acquainted with every inch of the country. Their communication with the whites and the lessons of the Red rebellion have given them many useful hints in the tactics of war, so many have been out of the country, having cut the telegraph lines and turned a few bridges here and there, what provision could be made for the safety of the people? The question is not worthy of consideration and has got to be looked at squarely. If Mr. Laurier imagines for a moment that the settlers will come into Alberta to make their homes until this question is settled to their satisfaction, he is but a poor exponent of human nature, and he need expect but poor returns from the latest "vigorous immigration policy." His proposal will still further reduce the police force which receives its quarters from the lesson of Almighty Voice. The fact is that the present force is inadequate and should be increased at once. The economical expenditure of public money may be very necessary, but the lives of the people are of more value than money. Let Mr. Laurier look to it that no more lives are lost through ignorance or carelessness on the part of the Government. This is not a question of politics; it is a question of proper regard for human life, and Mr. Laurier should not lose a moment's time in taking all necessary precautions to preserve the safety of the people. To maintain and even to increase the present strength of the police force is his first duty. To decrease the force after the lessons he has received would be nothing less than treachery to the people.

ALMIGHTY VOICE

The consistent press of the east is as usual enlightening the natives on the situation in the North West. The Toronto Mail solemnly publishes the following twaddle in its editorial columns: "There seems to be a suspicion at Macleod that the traitor to which 'Almighty Voice' belongs sympathizes with him. This view of course certainly justifies precautionary measures, but we should scarcely suppose the Indians who are now getting accustomed to administration of justice, and who are taught and must be taught, that life and property are to be respected, can be dangerously disturbed. Their past sympathy, if owing to this relationship of blood, if present there, should be at once removed to anything alarming in the presence of a strong demonstration on the part of the press having responsibility for the protection and peace of the Territories." The Mail is not to be wholly blamed for this twaddle. Its displays of toadyism ignorance, they are characteristic of the east. Newspapers, members of Parliament, even Cabinet Ministers, are infected with the same spirit. For example, information of the east the Mail might announce that Almighty Voice was a Salween, and that his "crime" never entered into his idea of arising and violate the whites off the face of the North West. Almighty Voice's crime, if he has any left, are far away in the United States. The eastern idea expressed by the Mail is that a few Indians at an expense of hundreds of thousands of dollars have been taught to grow potatoes, and that the A.I.C. of the whole redskin nation is "civilized" will be rudely knocked on the head one of these days. There is more latent courage, cunning and savagery in the average aboriginal than eastern penny advertisers and townsmen dream about. The Indian is a born fighter. The war-path and the hunter's trail are his natural element. His bloodthirsty instincts have been kept dormant or smothered by a mixed and uncertain feeling of fear and wonder at the power and doings of the whites. He has been subdued and held down by various means, not the least of which has been giving him everything he demanded in the shape of land, grub and perquisites and letting him have his property in pretty nearly everything. The Indian has hitherto probably held the same false idea of white man's power, and many white men have, namely, that it was useless for him to defy the mounted police. The fact that Almighty Voice and a couple of fellows have broken up the rifle, a revolver, and a few rounds of ammunition between them, without supplies, with nothing but their own hands to rely on, and with a pair of crabs for food and a pair of crabs for food, which they happened to shoot, were able for days to defy a trained corps of well armed and well fed attackers, only succumbing at last to a storm of bullets, and a couple of bullets sufficient to blow up a town, is a piece of ghastly humor which the shrewd Indian mind will not be slow to draw his own conclusions from.

clusions, which he will keep religiously to himself until the occasion arises to exert his power. There are over 20,000 treaty Indians on these prairies according to the Indian documents and blue books. There are probably as many more who have not bowed the neck to the government and who are at large, homeless at present but capable of every kind of atrocity if armed. What could the government do with them to do against 5,000 or 10,000 fighting Indians, all armed and with plenty of ammunition, (which they can always obtain without difficulty with a thorough knowledge of the country and skilled in prairie warfare? And yet the eastern tenderloins must understand that it is dangerous to reduce the Police force. Mr. Laurier is a sagacious man. He knows something of prairie conditions, but on this question he has been woefully advised. Unless he wants to lose the confidence of a great many of his Western supporters he will not only stop reducing the force but will materially increase it. Reduction means danger to life and property in the West, and the responsibility will be on the heads of pandering politicians less anxious to please what they misjudge to be the Western tail than what they mistake for the eastern dog.

Like Canadians everywhere Albertans have been generous in their subscriptions to the Indian Police Force. There is no opportunity for liberality right within our borders. The proposed erection in Southern Alberta of a Victoria Jubilee Home for Indian Children, to which attention is called in another column, will enable our philanthropic readers not only to assist in a praiseworthy display of loyalty and patriotism in this memorable year, but also to forward a movement well worthy of generous support.

When asked by a HERALD reporter to assist in a review of the recent Indian trouble the Rev. J. McDonald spoke very strongly against any suggestion of the Mount Police force and thought it should rather be increased. When shown Mr. Laurier's statement that the force "must be reduced to 50 men he said recent occurrences may change the sentiment in the east.

Almighty Voice is dead. So are Sergeant Colebrook, Corporal Harkin, Constable Harkin, and Constable Grady. Mr. Laurier allows I'm trained for, and Sergeant Raven and Scout Vennes badly injured. There will be no need to reduce the police force if the Indians are let alone.

Twenty-five policemen and a sergeant of the Mounted Police, and a large volunteer force were necessary to capture one Indian dead or alive. Five lives were lost before the Indian was killed, but Mr. Laurier says we have too many police in the North West.

The Roseland Miner says $100,000 would be only a trifling amount for that city to pay to get the miner released there. The Miner is right, and it would pay Calgary to spend $100,000 for a matter if it could not get it without.

The Kootenay smelters complain of the despoils of creek. Here is a chance for the Shesha Creek miners.

Intend of reducing the strength of the Mounted Police Laurier should doubt it.

THE VICTORIA JUBILEE HOME FOR INDIAN CHILDREN.

You are all asked towards building the above Home in connection with the Federal Reserve, on land given for the purpose by the Government.

It is difficult to ascertain to those who may wish to give a public thank offering in recognition of the many blessings our nation and country have received during the 50 years since Queen Victoria's reign, and as the donors of the fund are the well-to-do of our nation, subjects, who have been able to give of their means, and that we may offer in return a worthy token of our appreciation, it is being done by all our subjects in so many ways throughout the Empire. It is hoped that there will be given by all. It is hoped that the donors of the fund will be given by all. It is hoped that the donors of the fund will be given by all.

A list of the names of the donors of the fund will be published in the next report of the Indian Commissioner of the Department. Subscriptions may be sent to The Herald and Mr. Morris, manager of the Imperial Bank.

Helpless Rheumatics.

Rheumatism is no respecter of persons—the healthy and vigorous are as liable to the attacks as the weak.
The symptoms of the disease are almost unnoticed at first, so insidiously do they steal over the body gradually the little pains and stiffness increase, until they develop greater inconveniences day by day.
The knees, ankles and other joints of the body ache constantly, swelling to several times their natural size; the patient finds it almost unable to get around, soon incapacitated for business, and later is confined to his bed, utterly helpless.
It is a great mistake to expect relief from such condition by the application of liniments and other external remedies. The medical profession admits that the disease is in the blood, and it is but reasonable that only a blood remedy, one purely vegetable, and free from poisons, can afford relief.

GILMOUR'S RHEUMATIC WAFERS

are an unfailing remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Sciatica and other ailments which the other remedies failed to reach the disease.

Mr. Frank Scott, of Dalton, Ga., was a sufferer from Rheumatism since his boyhood. He writes: "Ever since I was 12 years of age I have suffered intensely with muscular rheumatism which at one time kept me in bed for 18 months. I took all kinds of treatment, but visited many famous springs, but could get only temporary relief; the disease always returned and at times was so painful that it was impossible for me to use my arms and legs. I tried almost everything that was suggested and after 18 years of suffering, GILMOUR'S RHEUMATIC WAFERS were recommended and I am happy to say at last I am cured of this painful trouble. G. R. W. seems to get at the disease promptly and affords immediate relief."
